

NO

Aimlessly gliding
On the thin ice of life
When your friends aren't around
Have you ever had any?
You're gazing at the darkness
That reigns in the heart of mankind
And dying for an answer
To all the mess in this world
You become aware of your inner tide
And as you start listening
You'll hear a simple word
At first you want to push it aside
Simply ignore it
Call it foolish to scream it out loud
But a single look at this world
And you know
It is right
To whisper it
To say it
To shout
To scream
This forbidden word
